

Created by Andrew Waller Design (www.mrwaller.com) and photographed by Nicholas Watt, this contemporary Australian beach style property was upgraded from a 1970's home. In addition to updating, the owners wanted a better connection with the beach and beautiful views, while referencing local materials. A layered material approach was adopted, utilising freestanding kitchen furniture, soft, powdery shades and white washed rustic timber flooring. Havwoods Oak Legacy White Extra Rustic was chosen for both aesthetic and practical purposes, furthermore this Europlank product was perfect for installing floating over the existing subfloor.

“We have used Havwoods’ products on various projects: their range offers a great selection of quality finishes and colours.”
